CARELESSNESS IN NORMANDIE BLAZE BLAMED

House Naval Subcommittee Completes Two-Month Investigation

NO EVIDENCE OF SABOTAGE FOUND

Committee Sharply Critical of Government Handling of Ship

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, April 15.—A house naval subcommittee blamed "carelessness and lack of proper supervision" today for the fire which damaged the liner Normandie in New York and reported that opportunities for sabotage were "abundant."

Concluding a two months' investigation, the subcommittee issued a long report sharply critical of government handling of the big ship and disclosed that orders had been given for it to sail on Feb. 14, five days after it burned and capsized.

Asserting that the fire unquestionably started from sparks from a blow torch which ignited life preservers, the subcommittee said investigation failed to disclose any persons intent on acts of sabotage and said the fire "was not started with willful or malicious intent."

"There is no escape from the conclusion, however, that the cause and consequences of the fire are directly attributable to carelessness and lack of proper supervision," the report said.

No Sabotage Evidence

"There was no evidence to indicate that the fire on the Normandie may be attributed to sabotage. Opportunities for sabotage or almost any subversive activity were, however, abundant on the Normandie. That the fire may not be attributed to sabotage is only indicative, therefore, of the fact that, if there were any, did not deem the time ripe for sabotage."

The subcommittee made 23 recommendations intended to prevent a repetition of such a fire, one of which was that operation of United States merchant vessels should be placed under the jurisdiction of the secretary of the navy.

This question of bringing the merchant marine under the navy, Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the house naval committee said, "has been discussed at the White House" by Chairman Emory S. Land of the maritime commission. Vinson expressed the personal opinion that the change will soon come for the merchant marine, with "all its members enrolled" under navy control.

NORTH AFRICA SHIPS HALTED

U. S. Acts Pending Clarification of Vichy Issue

WASHINGTON, April 15.—The United States has held up shipments of non-military supplies to French North Africa pending clarification of the situation in Vichy.

This was disclosed today by Acting Secretary of State Welles who told a press conference that two ships in New York harbor loaded with supplies for North Africa, which were about to sail in accordance with an agreement announced last week, would be held in port. Arrangements to send a Red Cross ship with milk and children's layettes to unoccupied France also have been held in abeyance, he said.

BUS DRIVER HURT IN LISBON CRASH

Vehicle Plows Into Tree: Operator Is Pinned In His Seat

William Neavin of Youngstown, driver of a Penn-Ohio bus, suffered a fractured right arm and body cuts and bruises when the bus he was driving crashed into a tree along Route 45, just north of Lisbon, at 11 a. m. today.

The impact demolished the front end of the bus and wedged the tree back by the driver's seat, deputy sheriffs reported.

The shattered windshield, headlights and other parts from the front of the bus were thrown a considerable distance.

Neavin, pinned in the front of the bus, was extricated by volunteer rescuers and deputy sheriffs. He was later brought to Salem City hospital. The bus, empty at the time, was enroute to East Liverpool.

JAPS LAUNCH BIG DRIVE IN BURMA SECTOR

Chinese Report Growing Offensive Under Way In Shan States

15 MERCHANT SHIPS SUNK, SAYS TOKYO

Announces Results of Surprise Attack on British Convoy

(By Associated Press)

CHUNGKING, China, April 15.—The Japanese are launching a major offensive in the southern Shan states in Burma, the Chinese announced tonight.

The Japanese were said to be attempting to cut the railway between Mandalay and Lashio, far behind the present Chinese lines above Toungoo.

Mandalay Vital Point

Mandalay has been the principal United Nations base in northern Burma and Lashio is the railroad for the Burma road.

Tokyo naval quarters asserted today that Japanese warships operating close to the shores of India had sunk 15 large merchant ships in less than an hour in a surprise attack April 6 on a British convoy, while on the critical Burma war front, British and Chinese troops again were forced to retreat.

British headquarters conceded that Japanese invasion columns were now within 30 miles of the heart of the central Burma oil fields, chief source of China's oil supplies.

"Yesterday enemy pressure was increased over the whole front and fierce fighting was taking place," a British communiqué said.

Sail In Close

In Tokyo, a Japanese naval commander declared Japanese warships sailed so close to the Indian coast that the sailors could see hills and white forts in closing in on the big British convoy.

The eye-witness account said convoy officers apparently mistook the raiders for British naval units and that the Japanese men 'war moved in until the 8-inch guns on the decks of the British ships were clearly visible, then opened fire.

DEFENSE PROGRAM BENEFIT PLANNED

East Palestine Home Talent To Present Show Here April 22 To Aid Medical Group

A minstrel show, by East Palestine home talent, will be presented at the High school auditorium Wednesday evening, April 22, to raise funds needed by the medical preparedness committee of the Salem Defense Council.

The East Palestine entertainers have presented their show in that city and in two or three other places in the county as a benefit and they will come to Salem without charge. Their show is donated because it is a benefit to purchase supplies needed by the medical preparedness committee, of which Albert Hanna is chairman.

Junior Chamber of Commerce members are helping organize the ticket sales. Girl Scouts will sell tickets throughout the city and tickets also will be available at the following stores: Flooding & Reynard, McBane, McArthur, the two Lease drug stores, and Brown's Heating & Supply Co.

POLO CLUB READY FOR DANCE; VARIED FEATURES PLANNED

Derby "Pre-Run" Is Scheduled; Big Surprise Attraction Arranged

Final arrangements for the Polo club's third annual barn dance—a benefit for those who enter the armed services of their country—were completed at a meeting of all committees last night and the stage is set for an unusual social event Saturday night at the Elks club.

Jack Dunigan's Trail Blazers will furnish the music for dancing from 9 to 1 and during intermission, entertainment of an unusual nature will be introduced. Previously announced, a pre-running of the Kentucky derby will be one of the attractions. The Polo boys will ride in the first heat of this race. There will be two other heats and the finals in which dance guests will ride.

CITY RELIEF FUND IN BLACK FOR '41

All Obligations Taken Care of and $10,388 Is Left, Audit By State Reveals

The city of Salem was able to take care of all its poor relief obligations during 1941 and ended the year with an unencumbered $10,388.53 balance in the relief fund, according to the 1941 state audit of the city's poor relief disbursements which has been filed with Mrs. Ruth Berry, city relief director.

The balance is high due to the relief levy voted two years ago and also because the case load has been low. The state matches all relief expenditures on a 50 per cent basis, thereby cutting down the city's expense.

For the year the average monthly case load was 20, including an average of 13 families, 48 persons and an average of 7 classified as single.

The city's poor relief expenditures for 1941 were placed at $4,051.21. This included work relief in the amount of $1,913.41, direct relief, $830.14; medical relief, $101.46; administration, $885.28; WPA project expense, $47.91; miscellaneous, $59.53.

Pan-American Day Observed Here By Legion Auxiliary

Members of Columbiana Unit Guests at Dinner and Program

Pan-American day, observed nationally as the anniversary of the first meeting of 21 American republics on April 14, 1890, was observed by the American Legion auxiliary at a dinner and special program.

Mrs. Charles Kennedy is state chairman for the auxiliary and Mrs. Harold F. Wyckoff is unit chairman of that department.

The post rooms and tables for the dinner were decorated with Mexican pottery and colored gourds. Flags of 21 Pan-American nations were on display.

Members of the Columbiana unit were guests at the program and dinner.

Mrs. Everett Rich, Salem auxiliary president, welcomed the group and visitors.

The program was prefaced with a review of the purpose of Pan-American study by the American Legion auxiliary. "Realizing the necessity of cooperation between the Americas, the auxiliary has undertaken the study to help interest more people in our Latin-American neighbors, to strengthen inter-American friendship, develop mutual understanding and secure hemispheric solidarity."

Choral music was presented by the Salem Junior American Legion auxiliary, led by Mrs. Golda Bum-baugh, and accompanied by Mrs. W. J. Seeman. Other numbers were: Piano medley of American airs, Ann Hehn; vocal, Donna Lou and Ina Mae Getz and a solo by the former, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Babb.

Special features were a talk on Mexico by B. G. Ludwig, Salem High school principal; a talk and motion pictures on Guatemala, Mrs. R. E. Smucker.

Attending the program last night were Mrs. H. P. Lilly of Salem and Mrs. Martha Calvin of Columbiana, members of the auxiliary who are over 80 years old.

13 U.S. Planes Pound Manila, Other Points

Brig. Gen. Ralph Royce Leads Damaging Attack, From Australian Bases, on Davao, Cebu, Batangas, Nichols Field and Other Bases

(By Associated Press.)

UNITED STATES ARMY HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, April 15.—Thirteen big American bombers operating from Australia made smashing attacks on Japanese bases and shipping at Manila, Cebu, Davao and Batangas in the Philippine island Monday and Tuesday, it was announced tonight.

The communique said "enemy shipping, docks and aircraft were destroyed and damaged in an American air attack in the Philippines area April 13 and 14. The flight consisted of three B-17's and 10 B-25's under personal command of Brig. Gen. Ralph Royce. Nichols field, Batangas, Cebu and Davao were attacked."

The bombers had hardly come to a standstill on the runway on returning to their base somewhere in Australia when Brig. Gen. Rush Lincoln, representing the United Nations air commander, Lieut. Gen. George H. Brett, rushed up and handed General Royce the Distinguished Flying Cross, as directed by President Roosevelt.

The DFC also was awarded to Lieut. Col. John Hubert Davies of Piedmont, Calif., and Capt. Frank P. Bostrom.

Smash Jap Transports, Bombers and Hangars

The raiders destroyed three Japanese transports at Cebu and hit two others, struck two transports and probably sank one at Davao; shot down three Japanese bombers and damaged several others on the ground; destroyed hangars and damaged runways at Nichols field near Manila, and did considerable damage to docks, the announcement said.

General Brett issued a statement highly commending General Royce, saying he volunteered for "this most important mission," and that: "His accomplishment will undoubtedly be told in detail at a later date, but now it is desired to point out that he has typified the tremendous importance of the air arm."

"He has demonstrated to the highest degree the spirit of offensive action so vital to winning of any military conflict."

(The distance from northernmost Australia to Manila is roughly 2,000 miles; to Davao 1,400. Since the B-25 bombers have a round-trip range, loaded, of 1,700 miles, the implication was that they may have refueled somewhere in American held territory in the Philippines.)

(The three B-17's—the famous flying fortresses—could make the round trip readily without refueling.)

(There are some 7,000 islands in the Philippines, and only a few of them have been occupied by the Japanese. To attack from Australia, nearest known bases of the Americans, the planes would have had to fly 2,000 miles to reach Manila and 1,400 miles to reach Davao.)

(Whether the raiding force was sprung from Australia, the Philippines or some other base, it was the first striking action to make good Gen. MacArthur's declaration upon his arrival in Australia from the Philippines less than a month ago: "I came through and I will return.") Gen. Brett, praising Gen. Royce, said:

"He took the flight into enemy territory and created dismay and destruction at a time most important to our forces and he has returned."

"The exacting requirements of preparation under the restriction and limitations imposed on our forces by lack of equipment and maintenance facilities tremendously increased the difficulties."

"I can not too highly emphasize my pride in the work accomplished by the American air forces participating in this mission."

(Two days ago the Tokyo radio broadcast a Domei dispatch from Manila reporting that "three American planes yesterday made an unsuccessful attempt to carry out a raid on the city (of Manila) although bombs were said to have been dropped.")

(Another dispatch broadcast from Tokyo and credited to the Manila correspondent of the newspaper Yonhury said that "three airplanes belonging to the American army which were compelled to flee from their base at Cebu dropped bombs on Sunday over densely populated districts of Manila.")

(The latter dispatch suggests that the raiding planes may have flown from a base still held by the U. S. forces in the Philippines.)

SALEM LAD PROVES SKILL ON TARGETS

Private Don Shannon of Franklin st., with the marines at Parris Island, S. C., is making a name for himself as an expert marksman.

Yesterday Patrolman James Hasey received two target cards from Don, showing the result of the lad's handiwork.

The target itself is about two inches in diameter. One showed a score of 91, with only three slugs off the bulls-eye. On the other, Shannon, in an imaginative moment, shot out a "V" directly on the target. Both were executed with a pistol at 50 feet.

AN IDEA FOR BUILDING MORALE

This morale building gets hard to keep track of sometimes. It wasn't long ago—time flies that the army's morale was supposed to be bad. Everybody had time to worry about it. But when the army, itself, found out what the war was about and began to get fighting equipment, the morale problem evaporated. At least, no one talks about it or worries about it now.

In Washington, the double domes did a lot of right and left-handed worrying about popular morale. It had to be improved, they said in their diagnoses. The people had to be taught folk dancing and provisions had to be made for putting their minds at ease in case of air raids. At the same time, other double domes on the government payroll were trying to keep the people's minds from being at ease.

But lately, this sort of thing has seemed to be tapering off. Perhaps it suddenly has become clear that the only way to build morale is to furnish proof that the people who worry about it most are awake and on the job. The job calls for practicing, not preaching. When the people became convinced that the government was taking the war seriously, their morale improved like magic. When the soldiers became convinced that the people were behind them, whatever was wrong with their morale apparently cured itself. If everybody talking about morale, including a lot of fakery who hope to make a soft snap of it, would pitch in pronto and do something about it, the whole problem could be kissed goodbye and filed away for the duration.

According to official discussion, inflation is to be averted by taking away enough of the people's buying power to keep prices from rising. The theory is that if competitive bidding for commodities cannot be afforded, prices will stay down.

Uncoubtedly, the tendency would be in that direction. But the public can't stop inflation. Whatever combination of taxation and war savings may be worked out to divert buying power from the commodity market into war expenditures, prices still will have to be kept down by some other means.

The thing being talked about is price control—not selective, as it has been up to now, but universal. This is said to be the complete answer, but how complete it is remains to be seen. Two things about price control are open to doubt.

The first is whether the government will find the courage to tackle the problem of rising wages, a potent factor in rising prices. The second is whether the farm bloc politicians in congress will find the courage to tackle the problem of rising farm commodity prices.

When the cost of food and the cost of processing rise, everything else is bound to feel the effect. Trying to avert inflation without controlling these two vital factors in determination of costs would be as futile as trying to anchor a balloon with rubber bands.

ONLY SECRET OF MASS PRODUCTION

The same thing has been said before, but when it is translated into money, apparently, it's easier to understand. North American Aviation turned back $14,000,000 to the government in the form of price reductions on contracts in progress recently. Additional savings of close to $60,000,000 will be turned back to the government on other contracts held by the company.

This is made possible by increasing efficiency of production, due largely to the company's ability to apply mass production technique to standardized units. The company acknowledges that much of the credit belongs to standardization. There is, in fact, no other secret in mass production.

Most familiar demonstration of mass production is a community's own newspaper. Once the various pages have been made up and plates put on the press, the newspaper can be produced as fast as the press will run. But if the pages must be changed frequently, the theory of mass production breaks down. The United States, gambling on mass production to do the job that must be done, will keep 'em flying when it finally can keep the machinery of mass production rolling.

BASEBALL, BUT NOT AS USUAL

There will be, no doubt, some shorting and complaining because baseball season is opening as usual this April. Aside from a few concessions to war-time, the plan is to run off the whole season about the same as usual.

It is hard to see what could be gained by doing anything else. Presumably, baseball players called under selective service are getting no special consideration. Those who are exempt or have not yet been called make their living playing baseball; there is no good reason why they shouldn't continue to work at their occupation.

The school of thought that believes in turning everything topsy-turvy in the belief that chaos and confusion will help win the war cannot expect any support from the intended victims of that short-sighted and hysterical point of view. The way to win the war is for Americans to keep their heads and their health. Baseball, the country's standard summer recreation, will help them do both.

HAPPY AND propitious auguries are to be found in this day's astrological map, according to both lunar and mutual aspects. While business interests are under lively and productive incitements perhaps these may be overshadowed by personal, social, affectional domestic or artistic engagements and activities. The young with their aims and progress are quite to the fore, whether in an intellectual, artistic or emotional expression. There may be surprising twists to the fortunes, with speculative enterprises or unlocked for benefits.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much progress, enterprise and expansion, with unusual opportunity for the young, ambitious and resourceful. This may reach far in diverse fields of endeavor, with success and satisfaction probably attaining surprising heights of expression and good fortune. There are certain speculative stimuli as well as a decided stabilizing force, excepting where public group or community interests may be disappointing. A child born on this day should have great intellectual or artistic talent, assuring professional, dramatic, literary or other creative ability.

STRESSES WHEAT QUOTA

COLUMBUS, April 15.—Defeat of the wheat marketing quota system in the national referendum May 2 would hit every Ohio farmer where it hurts most—in the pocketbook, Chairman Elmer F. Kruse of the Ohio Agricultural Adjustment Administration asserted today.

"The economic position of farmers will be serious, dislocated if the marketing quota is defeated, since it would mean that the government could not legally make loans on stored wheat," Kruse said.

Ohio voted counter to the national trend in last year's referendum, which won nationwide approval. The Commodity Credit Corporation makes loans to farmers who store their wheat in government-approved elevators or on the farm to prevent glutting the market.

Few farmers can afford to store wheat without the benefits a commodity loan, Kruse said. Hence, if the referendum failed, the market would be flooded at harvest time this summer, when a two-year supply is expected to be on hand, he added.

The effect of such an avalanche on a market lacking price-supporting commodity loans "would make itself felt in the pocketbooks of every Ohio farmer," he said.

CHILDHOOD IS BEST FOR MEASLES

Might As Well Try to Prevent Rain, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MEASLES is a great spring disease. It is probably the most universal disease in the world. It is even more universal than pregnancy because it affects both sexes.

In one out of a million cases it is fairly serious, the rest of the time it is a mild disease and might as well be gotten over in infancy. There are some physicians and public health officials who run around like chickens with their heads off and try to prevent measles.

Dr. Clendenning will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

In the first place you might as well try to prevent rain, snow and sun, and in the second place, I think it is a good thing for a child to have measles and get it over.

The only serious cases of measles are those which occur in institutions where children are gathered together in groups, such as orphan asylums and boarding schools.

We had a terrible time with measles in the Army in 1917 and 1918, because we didn't realize how cross infections made serious complications. The serious complication of measles is a broncho-pneumonia which apparently comes from the inhalation of cough droplets and sputum droplets from other measles patients.

Measles begins as a coryza—in other words it comes like a common cold, a runny nose, red eyes, a cough and bronchitis, and it isn't until four or five days that the eruption breaks out and the true nature of the condition is revealed. If the child is segregated at home in a room by itself from the very first period of infection, very few complications are likely to arise and the disease will probably run a very mild course. In a certain number of cases an infection of the middle ear (otitis media) occurs, but this is not especially serious if properly treated.

More Serious in Adults

The reason that I believe that all children might just as well have measles to begin with is that when it affects adults, it is very serious. In our army experience we found that soldiers from the city were hardly ever affected, but when we got a new draft of country boys, they came down with measles in large numbers and when they had to be treated in hospital wards or in barracks, cross infection was very prevalent.

Measles in adults can be very puzzling. I remember a patient, a nurse girl who came from a country district, who had nursed a child through measles and who was sent to me because she was supposed to have a cold. I examined her daily, was quite convinced that she had nothing but a cold, but she insisted that she had caught the measles from the child. It wasn't until two weeks after she first got sick that the eruption broke out and when I saw her that day she said, "You can't say now I haven't got the measles."

The treatment of measles is still in the primitive stage. The eyes should be washed out with boric acid, the skin should be soothed and a steam kettle should be used in the room to help the bronchitis, but there is no specific treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. Y. C.: What is the cause of diabetes? Is it true that a person will go blind from it? What is the cause of skin being very itchy? It is more so at night. There are no scaly eruptions.

Answer: You are badly mixed up. It would be impossible to tell you all you want to know in a short answer. You should consult the doctor and put your questions to him. The itching skin is due to diabetes.

D. E. N.—Please send me a list of common foods containing calcium and another list of foods containing sodium.

Answer: Milk is the best calcium-containing food. All the vegetables contain some. It is hardly possible to get any food that does not contain sodium. If you need sodium artificially, use common table salt.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE —

Without Calomel—And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour 2 pints of bile juice into your bowels every day. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food may not digest. It may just decay in the bowels. Then gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. You feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these 2 pints of bile flowing freely to make you feel "up and up." Get a package today. Take as directed. Effective in making bile flow freely. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills, 10c and 25c.

MATA HARI'S Daughter

CHAPTER FOURTEEN

While Brinda was worrying about Dick Malden, that tall and beautiful young man was pursuing a search of his own.

At first, the object of his quest was Lady Gladys, his purpose to learn whether she or Vasya had been the moment for staging the election. It might have been coincidence, but the lights had been gone off at a convenient time for whoever had stabbed the lady's guardian.

But neither Lady Gladys nor Vasya was in evidence. After canvassing the ball room and the halls, he started for the front door. Lord Mountwyn almost collided with him in the hall.

"Deuced queer!" Dick remarked. "I'm going out and have a look around."

"Unless His Lordship returned. There's no one out there as my boy."

"We better have a look," Dick said. "Come on, sir."

Though reluctant, Lord Mountwyn followed him through the door and across the broad veranda and down the steps to the broad sweep of lawn. "Desperate devil!" Dick observed. "Attacking like that. Wonder what they were after?" Lord Mountwyn shrugged. "Blessed I know! Think they were Jerry."

"No doubt of it." Suddenly Dick stopped. Ahead of him, at the side of the great house, he saw two dark figures moving rapidly away and they seemed to be carrying an inert figure between them. Dick's fingers dug into Lord Mountwyn's arms. "Look!" It seemed to Dick that the other trembled.

"Servants, perhaps," said Mountwyn.

"Servants, my grandmother! Come on!"

They may be dangerous," Lord Mountwyn protested. "If they are enemies, undoubtedly they are armed." He held on to Dick's arm. But Dick took himself away.

"I'll go alone," he cried and was off toward the corner of the house around which the men had disappeared. He heard the motor start.

A car shot away along the driveway, its tail light winking at him. He saw another car standing in the drive, leaped into it and shoved his foot on the starter. There was no response in the motor. Fool! He hadn't switched on the key. He found it, turned it and then the motor started. Dick jammed the car in gear and sent it racing after the rapidly fading light.

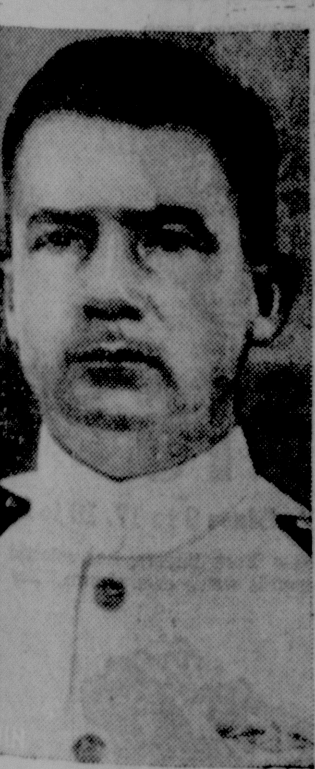

The needle of the speedometer swung past the fifty mark, hovered on the sixty crawled on to seventy and then to eighty. Ahead he could see the dim red light and knew he was gaining on it. They were on the long stretch of straight road leading north toward the moors—a land he had known all his life!... Every inch of it. He drove surely, untroubled at all at his terrific speed. Ahead, he knew there was a sharp turn but there was plenty of time to slow for it. He pressed his foot harder on the throttle, part of his mind puzzled by Lord Mountwyn's strange conduct.

"Why had his lordship protested against pursuing these men? Was he in league with the enemy? Dick pushed the thought away as unworthy.

It just couldn't be. Lord Mountwyn was an honored, elderly Englishman; naturally a conservative; nothing in his past merited suspicion. It must be that he was old enough to be cautious. You couldn't blame him for that. After all Colonel Sanderson had been stabbed and one had a right to fear for one's own life.

The red light grew brighter. He could now see the other car clearly and gradually drew up to it, swung to the right and started around. As he came alongside he yelled: "Hey, you chaps!" And then he knew that was a mistake.

Prien? Who's He?

Lieut. Comdr. Warder

Germany has long sung the praises of its late U-boat commander, Günther Prien, for his daring exploits in submarine warfare. But his exploits are dimmed in the light of those of the U. S. sub Seawolf, commanded by Lieut. Comdr. Frederick Burdett Warder, above, who has been recommended for the Navy Cross for his work. The U. S. Navy disclosed that Warder's sub sank a Japanese light cruiser, a destroyer and a large transport and damaged two other light cruisers, a large transport and one unidentified vessel on a patrol cruise off the Netherlands East Indies.

A woman screamed. Brinda! He saw her white face for one brief moment. Then flames stabbed at him and the wind screen went out as though a great fist had hit it. There was another burst of shots and this time the car lurched as they found their mark in the front tire. Dick tried to hold the car in the road, fought desperately with the wheel, but there was no holding it. It swung to the left into the front of the other car, then careened off into the ditch, rolled over, and he felt himself catapulted out; immediately all went utter black.

Some one was bending over him. A hand was shaking him. "I say," a voice said. "I say old man, are you hurt?"

Dick sat up. He put his head in his hands and shook it gingerly. Then he crawled to his feet. "Apparently not."

"What happened?" The speaker wore the uniform of a constable. Briefly Dick told him, saw the man staring at him in disbelief.

"That's what happened," Dick said. "I'm not drunk. We've got to get after them." He fished a little badge out of his pocket, saw the constable's face change.

"Sorry, sir," the constable said. "I've only a bicycle. We'll have to use that."

"They're heading north!" Dick said. "Probably got a hideaway somewhere around here. Their car is smashed up a bit. I think one of the headlamps went out. Sure of it, in fact. Won't be hard to trace."

The constable found his bicycle, straddled it. "On the bars," the constable said. "Not dignified for a gentleman but it's all I have, sir."

Dick grinned. "It's a noble equipage," he said and perched himself on the bars.

In this slow fashion they moved north along the road. After a while they saw a figure trudging along in the darkness and they hailed him. He stopped and peered at them curiously, leaning on his shotgun.

"Seen a car with one light?" Dick asked.

"I have that," the man said. "Not a quarter of an hour ago. Turned in the lane yonder."

"Why the gun?" Dick asked.

"Looking for parachutists. I'm Squire May. Every night I go out and look for the blighters. My duty, sir."

"We can use you," Dick said and quickly told his story.

"Ah!" nodded the squire and he smiled fiercely, jamming his gun under his arm. "Lead on, MacDuff! Let me at them! A woman, you say? The dirty rogues!"

"We'll leave that bicycle," said Dick. They dismounted and trudged toward the lane half a mile away. When they reached it, the squire whispered: "There's a house a quarter of a mile yonder. That must be it."

Quietly they moved forward and presently saw the house standing amid the trees. The fog had lifted a little, a wafer of moon shedding a pale light on the dark and sinister scene. They crept toward it, then Dick stopped and held up his hand in caution.

"A guard!" he whispered. "I'll get him!"

Crouching low, Dick kept in the cover of the trees, creeping toward the lone figure standing at the spot where a driveway led from the lane. He made his way around behind the man, dropped down and crawled inch by inch toward him. Once the man turned and Dick lay still, trying not to breathe, expecting every moment to receive a

Editor, The News:

I think at this time of the year is a good time for you to write an article in your paper about lawns. People are planting grass seed, rolling their yards in order to make them nice and it is wasted time and money as the mailmen, paper boys and the boys passing hand bills for the merchants of our town are making paths from house to house where the yards adjoin.

We have sidewalks to walk on, why not use them.

Japanese Air View of Attack on Pearl Harbor

I. I. N. Radiophoto

Taken from a Nipponese plane, this photo is described as the first Japanese air view of their attack on Pearl Harbor. Beyond Ford Island, in the center, a huge column of water splashes up near a line of U. S. warships. Four ships on the near side of the island are described as (1. to r.) two cruisers, one smoking; the Utah on her side, and "a special aircraft carrier" smoking after a hit. American planes, according to Jap sources, were lined in rows on the island and made easy targets. Photo came from Moscow.

This is a Stone

And here is another stone

If you place them together it makes the beginning of a wall.

This is a Wall

To make a wall takes many stones carefully fitted to one another. Once it is made, a wall endures.

This is a Newspaper Advertisement

It says that vitamins are good for you and that Jones sells them. If you see this advertisement once, you may or may not remember its message very long.

If you see the message twice, the chances are greater that you will remember it than if you saw it only once.

If you saw it many times (in the newspaper) every Monday, Wednesday and Friday, for instance) you would be sure to remember it.

So advertising is like a wall. As a stonemason adds one stone after another to build a wall, an advertiser adds one advertisement after another, regularly and forcefully, so that his message is OBSERVED, REMEMBERED and ACCEPTED.

If Mr. Jones stopped advertising, you might remember that vitamins are good for you, but you might forget that Jones sells them.

And then, when you wanted vitamins you might not go to Jones but to his competitor, Smith, to get them.

Suppose Jones can't get vitamins temporarily. He doesn't want you to forget that he is in business because he will have more vitamins to sell later on. Also, he has other things to sell.

THAT IS WHY JONES, IF HE IS A WISE MERCHANT, KEEPS HIS NAME BEFORE YOU, DAY AFTER DAY, WEEK AFTER WEEK, EVEN THOUGH HE CAN'T GET SOME PARTICULAR ITEM THAT HE WOULD LIKE TO SELL TO YOU.

As long as you keep on seeing his name, you remember that Jones is progressive and that his service is good service. You're glad that he's still in business, and you'll remember to get some vitamins from him when he advertises them again. Meanwhile, if you need something from the druggist, give Jones a call. He's not in business for his health—but for yours.

When business is better in this town everybody benefits. When everybody in the town knows what's going on all over the world, each man can tell better how to vote, what to buy and how to protect himself.

Read these ads each week. Tell your friends to read them. They tell you what an important part your newspaper has in helping you to know what's going on, so you can decide what you personally are going to do about it all.

The publisher of this paper wants to serve the community the best he possibly can. If you have any suggestions or questions or criticisms don't hesitate to write him a letter. It will receive personal attention.

AN IDEA FOR BUILDING MORALE

This morale building gets hard to keep track of sometimes. It wasn't long ago—time flies that the army's morale was supposed to be bad. Everybody had time to worry about it. But when the army, itself, found out what the war was about and began to get fighting equipment, the morale problem evaporated. At least, no one talks about it or worries about it now.

In Washington, the double domes did a lot of right and left-handed worrying about popular morale. It had to be improved, they said in their diagnoses. The people had to be taught folk dancing and provisions had to be made for putting their minds at ease in case of air raids. At the same time, other double domes on the government payroll were trying to keep the people's minds from being at ease.

But lately, this sort of thing has seemed to be tapering off. Perhaps it suddenly has become clear that the only way to build morale is to furnish proof that the people who worry about it most are awake and on the job. The job calls for practicing, not preaching. When the people became convinced that the government was taking the war seriously, their morale improved like magic. When the soldiers became convinced that the people were behind them, whatever was wrong with their morale apparently cured itself. If everybody talking about morale, including a lot of fakers who hope to make a soft snap of it, would pitch in pronto and do something about it, the whole problem could be kissed goodbye and fled away for the duration.

According to official discussion, inflation is to be averted by taking away enough of the people's buying power to keep prices from rising. The theory is that if competitive bidding for commodities cannot be afforded, prices will stay down.

Undoubtedly, the tendency would be in that direction. But the public can't stop inflation. Whatever combination of taxation and war savings may be worked out to divert buying power from the commodity market into war expenditures, prices still will have to be kept down by some other means.

The thing being talked about is price control—not selective, as it has been up to now, but universal. This is said to be the complete answer, but how complete it is remains to be seen. Two things about price control are open to doubt.

The first is whether the government will find the courage to tackle the problem of rising wages, a potent factor in rising prices. The second is whether the farm bloc politicians in congress will find the courage to tackle the problem of rising farm commodity prices.

When the cost of food and the cost of processing rise, everything else is bound to feel the effect. Trying to avert inflation without controlling these two vital factors in determination of costs would be as futile as trying to anchor a balloon with rubber bands.

ONLY SECRET OF MASS PRODUCTION

The same thing has been said before, but when it is translated into money, apparently, it's easier to understand. North American Aviation turned back $14,000,000 to the government in the form of price reductions on contracts in progress recently. Additional savings of close to $60,000,000 will be turned back to the government on other contracts held by the company.

This is made possible by increasing efficiency of production, due largely to the company's ability to apply mass production technique to standardized units. The company acknowledges that much of the credit belongs to standardization. There is, in fact, no other secret in mass production.

Most familiar demonstration of mass production is a community's own newspaper. Once the various pages have been made up and plates put on the press, the newspaper can be produced as fast as the press will run. But if the pages must be changed frequently, the theory of mass production breaks down. The United States, gambling on mass production to do the job that must be done, will keep 'em flying when it finally can keep the machinery of mass production rolling.

There will be, no doubt, some snorting and complaining because baseball season is opening as usual this April. Aside from a few concessions to wartime, the plan is to run off the whole season about the same as usual.

It is hard to see what could be gained by doing anything else. Presumably, baseball players called under selective service are getting no special consideration. Those who are exempt or have not yet been called make their living playing baseball; there is no good reason why they shouldn't continue to work at their occupation.

The school of thought that believes in turning everything topsy-turvy in the belief that chaos and confusion will help win the war cannot expect any support from the intended victims of that shortsighted and hysterical point of view. The way to win the war is for Americans to keep their heads and their health. Baseball, the country's standard summer recreation, will help them do both.

THE STARS SAY:

For Thursday, April 16

HAPPY AND propitious auguries are to be found in this day's astrological map, according to both lunar and mutual aspects. While business interests are under lively and productive incitements perhaps these may be overshadowed by personal, social, affectional domestic or artistic engagements and activities. The young with their aims and progress are quite to the fore, whether in an intellectual, artistic or emotional expression. There may be surprising twists to the fortunes, with speculative enterprises or unlocked for benefits.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of much progress, enterprise and expansion, with unusual opportunity for the young, ambitious and resourceful. This may reach far in diverse fields of endeavor, with success and satisfaction probably attaining surprising heights of expression and good fortune. There are certain speculative stimuli as well as a decided stabilizing force, excepting where public group or community interests may be disappointing. A child born on this day should have great intellectual or artistic talent, assuring professional, dramatic, literary or other creative ability.

STRESSES OVER QUOTA

COLUMBUS, April 15.—Defeat of the wheat marketing quota system in the national referendum May 2 would hit every Ohio farmer where it hurts most—in the pocketbook. Chairman Elmer F. Kruse of the Ohio Agricultural Adjustment Administration asserted today.

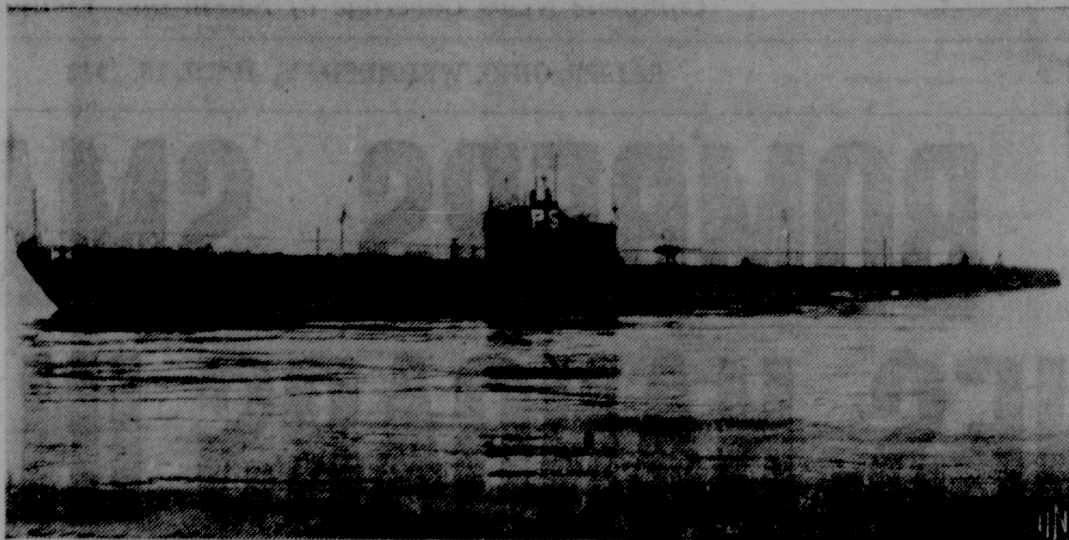

"The economic position of farmers will be seriously dislocated if the marketing quota is defeated, since it would mean that the government could not legally make loans on stored wheat," Kruse said.

Ohio voted counter to the national trend in last year's referendum, which won nationwide approval. The Commodity Credit Corporation makes loans to farmers who store their wheat in government-approved elevators or on the farm to prevent glutting the market.

Few farmers can afford to store wheat without the benefits a commodity loan, Kruse said. Hence, if the referendum failed, the market would be flooded at harvest time this summer, when a two-year supply is expected to be on hand, he added.

The effect of such an avalanche on a market lacking price-supporting commodity loans "would make itself felt in the pocketbooks of every Ohio farmer," he said.

U. S. Sub 'Presumed Lost'

The Navy Department announced that the U. S. submarine Perch has been overdue more than a month and must be presumed lost. Skipped by Lieut. Comm. David A. Hurt, of Pounding Mill, Va., the lost submarine carried a normal crew of fifty officers and men. It was operating in Java sea when last heard from.

CHILDHOOD IS BEST FOR MEASLES

Might As Well Try to Prevent Rain, Says Doctor

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.
MEASLES is a great spring disease. It is probably the most universal disease in the world. It is even more universal than pregnancy because it affects both sexes.

In one out of a million cases it is fairly serious, the rest of the time it is a mild disease and might

Dr. Clendening will answer questions of general interest only, and then only through his column.

as well be gotten over in infancy. There are some physicians and public health officials who run around like chickens with their heads off and try to prevent measles.

In the first place you might as well try to prevent rain, snow and sun, and in the second place, I think it is a good thing for a child to have measles and get it over. The only serious cases of measles are those which occur in institutions where children are gathered together in groups, such as orphan asylums and boarding schools.

We had a terrible time with measles in the Army in 1917 and 1918, because we didn't realize how cross infections made serious complications. The serious complication of measles is a broncho-pneumonia which apparently comes from the inhalation of cough droplets and sputum droplets from other measles patients.

Measles begins as a coryza—in other words it comes like a common cold, a runny nose, red eyes, a cough and bronchitis, and it isn't until four or five days that the eruption breaks out and the true nature of the condition is revealed. If the child is segregated at home in a room by itself from the very first period of infection, very few complications are likely to arise and the disease will probably run a very mild course. In a certain number of cases an infection of the middle ear (otitis media) occurs, but this is not especially serious if properly treated.

The reason that I believe that all children might just as well have measles to begin with is that when it affects adults, it is very serious. In our army experience we found that soldiers from the city were hardly ever affected, but when we got a new draft of country boys, they came down with measles in large numbers and when they had to be treated in hospital wards or in barracks, cross infection was very prevalent.

Measles in adults can be very puzzling. I remember a patient, a nurse girl who came from a country district, who had nursed a child through measles and who was sent to me because she was supposed to have a cold. I examined her daily, was quite convinced that she had nothing but a cold, but she insisted that she had caught the measles from the child. It wasn't until two weeks after she first got sick that the eruption broke out and when I saw her that day she said, "You can't say now I haven't got the measles."

The treatment of measles is still in the primitive stage. The eyes should be washed out with boric acid, the skin should be soothed and a steam kettle should be used in the room to help the bronchitis, but there is no specific treatment.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

F. Y. C.: What is the cause of diabetes? Is it true that a person will go blind from it? What is the cause of skin being very itchy? It is more so at night. There are no scaly eruptions.

Answer: You are badly mixed up. It would be impossible to tell you all you want to know in a short answer. You should consult the doctor and put your questions to him. The itching skin is due to diabetes.

D. E. N.:—Please send me a list of common foods containing calcium and another list of foods containing sodium.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin, and a self-addressed envelope stamped with a three-cent stamp, to Dr. Logan Clendening, 235 E. 45th st., New York. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Femine Hygiene," and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

Acid Indigestion

When excess stomach acid causes gas, sour stomach or heartburn, doctors prescribe the fastest-acting medicine known for symptomatic relief—medicines like those in Bell and Howitt's Tablets. BERKELEY, Cal.—Dr. Joel Hil-

I found the way to new pep... vitality... better looks!

A truly marvelous change can be brought about by overcoming miserable digestive complaints, under-weight, sluggishness, loss of appetite—all by two important steps—

Restore vital digestive juices in the stomach... energize your body with rich, red blood!

If you are one of those unfortunate ones who have worked under a strain, failed to eat the proper foods, or have suffered with colds, the flu, or other illness... yet have no organic trouble or focal infection... if your stomach digestion refuses to work properly, there is what should help you!

S.S.S. Tonic is especially designed to build up blood strength when deficient... to revive and stimulate those stomach juices which digest the food so your body can make proper use of it in rebuilding worn-out tissue. These two important results enable you to enjoy the food you do eat... to make use of it as Nature intended. Thus you may get new vitality... become animated... more attractive!

Build sturdy health

Because S.S.S. is in liquid form it begins its work as soon as you take it. Surprising results may be had by making the S.S.S. treatment a part of your daily diet. Thousands and thousands of users have testified to the benefits S.S.S. Tonic has brought to them and scientific research shows that it usually gets results—that's why so many say "S.S.S. Tonic builds sturdy health and makes you feel like yourself again." ©S.S.S. Co.

The First Aid class will meet Friday evening at 7:30 with Dr. Lee Cobbs of Salem, instructor.

A sound picture, "Ready on the Home Front," a complete story of civilian defense work in Ohio, will be shown Friday evening when Mahoning County Pomona grange will hold a project meeting at Goshen grange hall, Carl Willman, local manager of the Ohio Bell Telephone Co., will show the picture.

The Pomona officers will be in charge of the meeting, Mrs. J. Edward Miller, the lecturer, having charge of the program. Garfield grange will provide a musical number; Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Goist of Dublin grange will give a piano duet. A playlet, "Priceless Possessions," the 1941 prize playlet of Ohio State grange, will be given by a group from North Lima grange.

JUDGE W. M. CARTER SEEKS RE-ELECTION

William M. Carter of Warren, judge of the court of appeals of this district, today announced his candidate for re-election for that position, subject to the Republican primaries in August.

Judge Carter has served on this court for eight years and is seeking re-election to a full second term, having filled out a two year unexpired term of the late Judge Polk and in addition thereto has served one full term of six years.
He is presiding judge of the court.
Judge Carter served as assistant prosecuting attorney of Trumbull county for nearly four years. For seven years he was a member of the law firm of Fillius & Fillius, served eight years as common pleas judge of Trumbull county, and while serving in that capacity was elected to the court of appeals of this district.

He is at present chairman of the judicial section of the State Bar association and secretary of the Courts of Appeals of the state.

FIND NEW METHOD IN TREATING BURNS

Patient Painted Like Easter Egg, Covered With Dye and Wrapped in Bandages

CINCINNATI, April 15.—A revolutionary type of treatment for burns from incendiary bombs was described today before the American Association of Industrial Physicians and Surgeons.

Dr. F. A. Barlow of the Wright
Aeronautical corporation, Paterson, N. J., described them to an association in a symposium on bomb injuries.

In treating burns from magnesium—the metal used in flares, photographers' flash bulbs and some types of bombs—the victims are painted like an Easter egg. Dr.
Barlow said the burned patient is given anesthesia immediately; burned tissue is removed and the area washed.

A mixture of violet, brilliant green and purple dye is applied over the entire area, which is then wrapped in bandages.

Sometimes sulfadiazine, a sulfanillamide derivative, is used to help check infection, but the dyes themselves have been found not only to kill germs associated with such wounds, but to stop pain and provide a healing effect, Dr. Barlow declared.

In addition, pressure on the burned part has been found to stimulate healing, he added. This was discovered when men with badly burned backs insisted on sleeping on their backs instead of stomachs after the dye treatment; and the burned parts which were under pressure healed more quickly. The physician suggested that compresses, preferably of sponge rubber, be bound around any burned area after treatment.

COLUMBIANA CLUB AT GOBRECHT HOME

COLUMBIANA, April 15.—Mrs.

Closing a Lenten season attendance contest, the Sunday school class of the Presbyterian church taught by Mrs. R. J. Esterly held a delicious supper at the church Tuesday evening. Members of the young team was hostesses to the winners. Miss Winifred Esterly was in charge of arrangements.
Following the supper an impromptu program was enjoyed. Each member was a perfect attendance recorder during Lent was presented a gift. There were 17 present.

Mrs. Alice Magill was hostess to members of the W. C. T. U. at her home. Mrs. Rev. Robinson led the devotionals. Mrs. Frank Perrall conducted the business meeting.
The lesson topic was "Safe-guarding Youth".

The annual inspection of Allen edge will be held Friday evening.
Preceding the inspection, dinner will be served at the Methodist church at 6:30. District Deputy Grand Master George Herman will represent the grand lodge of Ohio.

fire. All stand at attention, except those in wheelchairs, as the national anthem is played. The ceremony was the largest of its kind in U. S. army history.

POLO CLUB READY FOR DANCE; VARIED FEATURES PLANNED

Derby "Pre-Run" Is Scheduled; Big Surprise Attraction Arranged

secret by the general committee.
It is a surprise attraction being brought here from the southern part of Ohio and never before staged in this part of the state.
Some difficulty was experienced in arranging this fight—there, part of the secret leaked out already, but you'd never guess the nature of it unless you have witnessed it in the south. But a wire from the owner of the attraction received today assured the committee that it would arrive in Salem Saturday, in ample time for the dance.

Brooke "Pete" Votaw and Will Smith will handle this special event, but you can't pry any more information out of them. "Come and see it," they say, and they are enthusiastic about it.
Costumes add color to this annual barn dance and the committee today announced that seven prizes will be given for attractive and unique costumes. Blending with these varied costumes will be the settings of the hall, and the decorating committee, headed by Ray Moff, is doing a good job of it.
Favors for all guests will add to the gaity of the evening.

Entertainment is in charge of a committee of which James Pidgeon, Jr., is chairman and Jack Gallatin and "Pete" Votaw will accept entries for the horse race. The general chairman are Walter Fernengel and Ralph Hawley.

Funds Provide Testaments
This year's event is a benefit to buy Testaments for young men who leave for the service. The Testaments are furnished by the Gideon society. In a letter received by Chairman Fernengel today, Chester Anderson of Girard, secretary of the society for the Youngstown district, expressed appreciation for the cooperation given by the Salem Polo club, which has furnished new Testaments to soldiers who already have departed.
Anderson said 2521 Testaments had been distributed in Mahoning county, 1508 in Trumbull and only 610 in Columbiana county. Most of the latter have been furnished by the Polo members.

Blood for the Armed Forces

Pictured here are American Red Cross volunteers delivering blood plasma to an Army plane—destination unknown. But this much is known—the blood of patriotic American citizens is saving the lives of many of the nation's valiant defenders. Nearly 55,000 persons have donated blood at Red Cross blood donor centers since Pearl Harbor.

Capt. C. S. Stephenson, head of the division of preventive medicine of the U. S. navy bureau of medicine and surgery, is increasingly in the news these days as progress is being made in the mass production of blood transfusion substances.
The manufacture of blood plasma is hailed as the great medical advance of the war, while sulfanilamide drugs have revolutionized war surgery. Capt. Stephenson is quoted as stating:

No Lack of Donors Probably a million points would be on hand today if all the Americans who want to donate could have been accepted. The trouble was not with their health, but with the facilities for manufacturing dried blood plasma. These are new. It has taken time to make them, and time to organize the donor clinics. Eighteen cities, all except two of them in the north and east, now accept stops hemorrhage. Plasma is useful after prolonged illness and infections. If whole blood is needed, plasma is good to bolster the patient while waiting.

No Risk to Donors
The Red Cross reports there is not one record of serious accident or discomfort to any of the thousands of blood donors in the United States and Britain. The discomfort of giving blood, the organization's publications say, is about equal to that of a haircut, and less than getting a permanent.

The Red Cross blood donor unit will be in Salem April 30 and May 1.
Anyone willing to donate a pint of blood to help save a life is asked to reserve a half hour's time on one of these two days to do his bit to aid our armed forces.

Complete details as to location of the Unit will be announced within the next few days.

Grange Plans Program

Mrs. Edward Miller will be in charge of the program at the project meeting of Pomona grange at Goshen grange Friday night.

The program will include the following: Music by Dublin grange members; a defense picture by the Ohio Bell Telephone Co.; music by a member of Smith grange; a play,
"Priceless Possessions," by North Lima grange; music by Garfield grange.

Self-Cleaning HOUSE PAINT

developed by DU PONT STAYS WHITE!

DUPONT House Paint is a brilliant white... and it stays white, too! It is "self-cleaning"! It forms a tough, durable film which protects the surface from rust, rot, or decay. Like all paints, it collects dirt on exposure to the elements. As time goes on, however, a fine white powder forms on the surface of this new paint. This powder is washed away by heavy rains, carrying the dirt with it and exposing a fresh white surface. Usually this self-cleaning process starts after a few months of exposure under normal conditions of weather, but may be delayed under unusual dirt-collecting conditions such as found in sooty industrial areas. Because the "self-cleaning" process is gradual, the wearing qualities of the paint film are not abnormally affected.

Du Pont House Paint costs no more than other good paints. And it saves you money because it needs fewer repaintings. Next time you paint, ask your painting contractor to use Du Pont House Paint.

COUNTY'S RELIEF STATUS UNCHANGED

LISBON, April 15.—The relief picture in Columbiana county remained unchanged during March in a report filed with the commissioners today by Relief Director John W. Orr, showing $14,432.36 administered last month as compared with $14,666.36 in February and $16-326.11 for the same period in 1941.

However, last year's figure was for direct relief alone in the county area, with 514 cases and 1,598 persons receiving aid, while last month there were 284 cases and 754 persons. There were, however, 851 cases and 2,211 persons participating in the food stamp relief plan last month including other welfare categories who are permitted to purchase the relief stamps, for which they receive 50 percent of the total value in free surplus commodity stamps.

The relief as administered included $8,570 in food stamps, $4,285 in free surplus commodity stamps, $1,277.36 in other relief orders, and $300 in surplus clothing.

The cost of administration last month totalled $3,297.89, less reimbursements of $400 from the four cities, or $2,897.86 including $662.90 paid to the state industrial commission on work relief cases, and $484.73 paid in to the state public employees retirement fund.

Other administrative costs included: relief dept., $547.22; stamp dept., $428.48; surplus commodities, $261.10; WPA and CCC certification, $145.07; pre-audit, $24.97; WPA sewing project, $725.85, and housekeeping aide, $17.54.

STATE'S BIG GUNS ENTER IN GREATER OHIO CAGE LEAGUE

Warren, Martin's Ferry, Akron North Boost Entries to 10

MIDDLETOWN, April 15.—Akron North, Warren and Martins Ferry—big guns in any scholastic league—have joined the Greater Ohio High School basketball league, Coach Royner Greene of Middletown reported today.

Their addition brings to 10 the number of league entries, the former league prey said. Other members are Dayton Roosevelt, Lima Central, Lima South, Portsmouth, Springfield, Hamilton and Middletown.

The three teams probably will not compete for the championship trophy next season, Greene said. Rules require each school to play a minimum of five other league teams to become eligible for championship laurels. With their schedules partly completed, and being reluctant to map extensive road trips for next season, coaches of the newcomers said they could hardly meet this stipulation.

This problem, however, is expected to be ironed out before the 1943-44 season. Rex Settlemyre, Lima Central coach, was elected president of the Greater Ohio league at a weekend meeting. He succeeds Greene. Elwood Pitzer, Springfield coach, was named vice president and the secretary-treasurer post went to Willard E. Ellsesser, Portsmouth mentor.

The coaches announced the following 1941-42 all-league honor team:

Forwards, Jim Wells, Middletown, and Jimmy Gift, Dayton Roosevelt; center, Jack Maisch, Lima Central; guards, Bill Williams, Portsmouth, and Elmer Bean, Springfield.

Gift also received the circuit's most valuable player trophy. Selection was based on playing ability, scholastic standing, personality and attitude.

The championship trophy went to Coach Pitzer, whose Springfield quintet nosed out Middletown for the title. The reserve league trophy was awarded to Middletown's reserves, coached by Glenn Ellison.

Bits of Sport

NEW YORK.—The lams of the big league batting orders—those 200 weeklings in the slugging averages—are the ones to fear most when the ace of the pitching staff has the big hitters fanning the air and seems on his way to a no hit performance. That ancient adage is borne out by the 1941 National League baseball records.

The league had six one-hit pitching jobs last season and most of the bad news to pitchers with Hall of Fame notions came from the mediocre maulers rather than from the upper crust sluggers. Look at the record.

On May 3 when Hank Gornicki blanked the Philadelphia Phillies, 6-0 for the St. Louis Cardinals, the only hit registered against him came from Stan Benjamin. Record—235 for the season.

Exactly a month later, the Chicago Cubs made a single safety off the Phillies' Tom Hughes in losing 7-6. The hitter was Lou Novikoff, National League average, .241, although he was anything but lamb-like later at Milwaukee where he won the Association batting crown with .370.

Vander Meer, Warneke, Foiled Johnny Vander Meer tossed a one-hitter at the Phils on June 6 with a 7-0 decision. The Phillies' hitter this time was Danny Latwiler (.305), no lamb any day, and first man to hit a homer in every park in the league last year.

Lon Warneke caught the Phils in a one-hit mod on June 10. The first man up in the first inning, Heinie (.227) Mueller, struck their only safe blow.

The next lone-blow was woven around the Pittsburgh Pirates' bats Aug. 8 by Paul Erickson, Jimmy Wilson's tall nucleus of the coming Chicago Cubs' curving staff. Bob Elliott sneaked the spell in the seventh with a single to center. He batted 273 for the year.

Phil Masi, the Boston Braves' youth who wrecked Whit Wyatt's perfect game effort in Boston, Aug. 17, with one out in the ninth and two strikes on him, had 222 for the year. Lonnie Frey's double, the only hit off Red Sewell in his 4-0 win over the Reds Sept. 4, should not count, probably since the game only went five innings. However, his blow was the only one longer than a single to shatter a no-hit game last year.

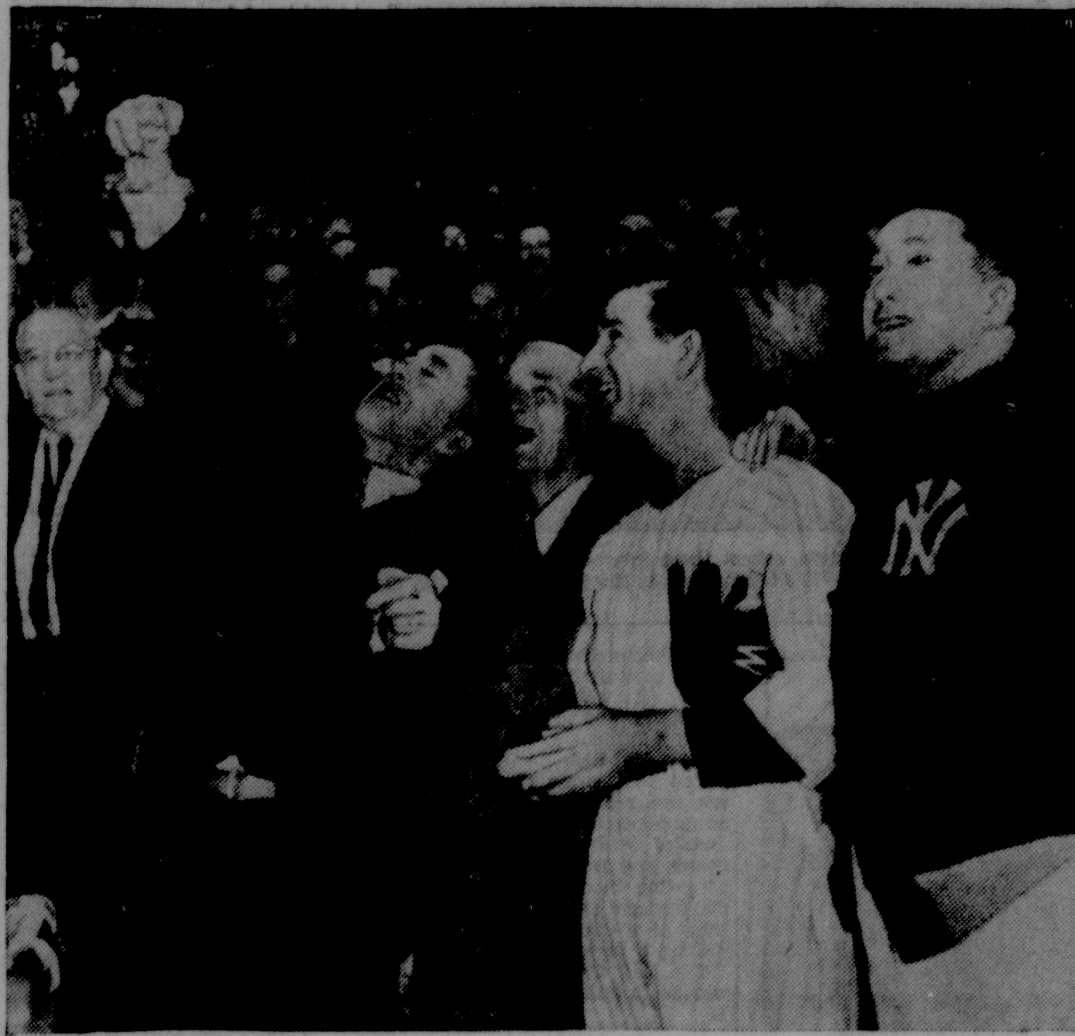

Just in case your favorite pitcher is on the threshold of the Hall of Fame this coming year, watch the lower end of the lineup. These no-hit-spell-breakers had a combined .262 batting average for the season.

MIAMI BEACH, Fla.—At least two and possibly four Florida east coast baseball league teams must abandon night games for the duration.

A Miami Beach and Fort Pierce, floodlights from ball parks near the ocean front outline seagull vessels, making them easy targets for submarines. Fort Pierce has scheduled its weekday games for 5:30 p. m., and Miami Beach at 5:45 p. m.

Similar conditions threaten night games at Fort Lauderdale and West Palm Beach.

Major League Baseball Season Opens In Washington

Vice President Henry A. Wallace throws out the first ball as New York Yankees meet Senators in Washington in opening game of the American league season. Owner Clark Griffith and Manager Bucky Harris (Senators) and Manager Joe McCarthy (Yankees) stand beside him.

Salem News bowlers took three games from the City Loan on the Masonic alleys last night and moved into third place in the National league.

Salem China took two from Grates and the Masons won all three from the National Sanitary. Gene Pugh carded games of 242-225, 198 for a 665 aggregate and Bill Hull, also of the Chinas, wound up with a 225. Wink Miller of the News had one game of 222. High team game for the night went to Grates, who posted a 971 in their second game.

In rollofs of postponed Mullins league matches, the Standards emerged the winner over the Enamels while the Finishers ousted Employment. A. Shepard chalked up a 213 game for the Finishers.

The Colonial Finance keggers of the Grate Ladies league emerged victorious over the Warren DAV club in a special match at Warren. The score was 2375 to 2242.

Frieda Orr led the way for the locals as she racked up a 504 series on games of 175, 168, and 161. Kittle of the home team took individual game honors with a 197.

Reds Assign Riddle To Face Pittsburgh

CINCINNATI, April 15.—Their tenth opening-day defeat in 11 years absorbed, the Cincinnati Reds today assigned Elmer Riddle to repay the Pittsburgh Pirates for a 4-2 setback before 34,104 cash customers.

Riddle, the National League's leading hurler last year, will oppose Lloyd Dietz of Dayton, Ky., a former Redleg. A crowd that lacked only 836 persons of 1941's record opening-day throng was thoroughly convinced by Max Butcher, big Pittsburgh right-hander, that the Indian sign he had on Redleg's last year weathered the winter.

Ival Goodman, the Reds' rejuvenated rightfielder, unloaded a triple in the fifth inning after two of Max's seven walks to score both Redlegs runs. After that the Reds got only five singles.

Bucky Walters, in losing his first opening-day outing, was handicapped by two infield errors.

Eddie Joost booted rookie John Barrett's hot grounder in the first inning with one away. There followed a double by Bob Elliott, Vince DiMaggio's long fly and a single by Elbie Fletcher for two runs.

In the fourth Bert Haas muffed Frankie Gusine's easy tap. Fletcher had bunted safely and Ed Stewart had singled, so the misplay filled the bases. Al Lopez then singled two runs in.

EUGENE, Ore.—Assistant Coach Vaughn Corley has been named to succeed Tex Oliver as head football coach of the University of Oregon. Oliver becomes a naval lieutenant commander next week.

Keltner Hits Homer In Opener

Kenny Keltner, third baseman of the Cleveland Indians, is given a hand by Jeff Heath as he romps across home plate after hitting the first homer of the 1942 baseball season. The Indians scalped the Tigers at Briggs stadium in Detroit by a score of 5 to 2 to take the opener.

FLEMING STARS AS TRIBE COPS FIRST FROM DETROIT, 5-2

Bagby Pitches Nice Ball to Take First Start: Keltner Homers

DETROIT, April 15.—The Cleveland Indians went after their second Tiger skin today, convinced yesterday's trophy needs a companion on the teepee wall.

Manager Lou Boudreau said he would like to use a rookie right-hander—Steve Gromek or Ray Post. Previously Boudreau had named Al Milnar, who won 12 and lost 19 last season, but Al is a lefty and likely to run into trouble at Briggs Stadium. Raney, right-handed Paul (Dizzy) Trout, who pitched 500 ball in 18 games last year, was Detroit's choice.

Rookie Les Fleming lived up to pre-season hopes and was the Tribe's batting hero in yesterday's 5 to 2 victory, getting a single, a double and a home run in four trips to the plate. Kenny Keltner also hit for the circuit, swatting Al Benton's first pitch into the left field stands.

Jim Bagby started the season as auspiciously as Keltner by striking out Detroit's first batter, Jimmy Bloodworth. But the Tigers scored in the second on Pinky Higgins' double and New Harris' single, and again in the third on Fleming's error and Rudy York's single.

Successful doubles by Boudreau and Ray Mack in the fourth tied the game at 2-all.

Cleveland put the game on ice in the seventh. Gene Dyauteles singled, Bagby sacrificed, and Weatherly singled, scoring Dyauteles, then took second on Barney McCosky's throw to the plate. Rookie Oris Hockett singled Weatherly home.

In the eighth inning, rookie Roy Henshaw, up from Jersey City, went to the mound for Detroit, and the first batter he faced was Fleming, up from Nashville. Fleming homered for his third safety of the day.

WEST SIDERS EDGE BUCKEYES BY 32-29

In probably what will be the last cage game of the season, the West Side A. C. downed the Buckeyes, 32-29, in a game played at the Memorial building yesterday.

Dick Boughton paced the way for the losers with 14 points while Wayne Hahn dropped in 16 for the West Siders.

McGuire Softball League Gets Under Way Saturday

Weather permitting the Mickey McGuire softball league, involving the six grade schools, will get under way at Reilly field. The schedule is as follows:

COLUMBIA vs. Reilly
Fourth St. vs. Prospect
St. Paul vs. McKinley

NEW YORK.—The international class yachts of Long Island Sound will race for navy and coast guard charity instead of silver prizes this summer. The class committee has decided to divide the money usually spent for trophies between the navy relief society and the coast guard welfare organization.

Horne, unbeaten in 19 bouts since turning pro, was the busier of the two, scoring with a two-fisted body attack. Rosati, however, was superior at long range. There were no knockdowns.

SPORT CHATTER

By HUGH FULLERTON, Jr.

SPORTS fans now have had their first taste of a tonic labeled "Major league baseball, an antidote for war worries," and the dose given 190,775 persons in eight cities yesterday had an altogether agreeable flavor.

The opening games were crammed with enough excitement to satisfy any thrill-hunting baseball bug and they heralded more interesting encounters to come.

The world champion New York Yankees functioned like a well-oiled machine. Boston, Cleveland and St. Louis also looked good in winning and the Brooklyn Dodgers keyed another topsy-turvy National league campaign with a dizzy ball game as New York fans have seen in a long time.

Ruffing Gives Three Hits

At Washington, before Vice President Wallace and 31,000 other fans, old Charley (Red) Ruffing, emboldened by his 18th American league season by hurling a three-hit 7-0 shutout against the Senators.

Ruffing gave three singles and allowed only one walk and never let a man past first base. He accounted for two of New York's 10 bingles off young Sid Hudson and one of these knocked in two runs.

At New York 42,553 fans, the biggest turnout of the day, watched the Dodgers down the Giants, 7-5, in the Polo Grounds.

The National league champions stabbed old Carl Hubbell for four runs in the first inning and belted him out of the box with Peeve Reese's two run homer in the fourth.

The St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds, chief rivals of the Dodgers, tied their debuts.

The Chicago Cubs nosed out the Cards, 5-4, by bunching two runs in the first inning and three more in the sixth of Mort Cooper. Manager Jimmy Wilson of the Bruins also earned the distinction of being the first pilot thumbed out of a game by an umpire.

The Reds were set down, 4-2, by the Pittsburgh Pirates as big Max Butcher outpitched Bucky Walters, six hits to seven.

Ancient Cooney Stars Johnny, the 41-year-old hand-dyman of the Boston Braves, took over first base and provided a timely single and double to help beat the Phils, 2-1.

Yesterday's Results Cleveland 5, Detroit 2. New York 7, Washington 0. Boston 8, Philadelphia 3. St. Louis 3, Chicago 0.

Games Today and Tomorrow Cleveland at Detroit. New York at Washington. Philadelphia at Boston. St. Louis at Chicago.

Yesterday's Results Pittsburgh 4, Cincinnati 2. Boston 2, Philadelphia 1. Brooklyn 7, New York 5. Chicago 5, St. Louis 4.

Games Today and Tomorrow Brooklyn at New York. Boston at Philadelphia. Pittsburgh at Cincinnati. Chicago at St. Louis.

MOUNT RAINIER, Wash.—Corporal Ray Zoberski, only man ever to place in silver skis competition by crossing the finish line on his back, will be in shape to receive his trophy today, physicians reported.

Nearing the finish line of the dare-devil downhill race, Zoberski fell, but his momentum enabled him to skid across in fourth place.

Fort Lewis hospital attendants said his injuries were not serious.

AAU SURVIVORS GET 48 HOURS RESPITE

BOSTON, April 15.—The 32 more or less battered survivors of the first two rounds of the national A. A. U. boxing championship tournament today received a 48-hours' respite from their title quests for the first time in the competition's long history.

The victors, representing 17 sectional associations, got again in semi-final contests Friday night, when eight new champions will be crowned.

The tourney's only defending titlist, Jimmy Mulligan of Lowell, Mass., dropped a decision to Ursal Snapp, Pocatello, Idaho, middleweight.

Mulligan's unexpected downfall turned the 160-pound division into a wide open affair among Walter Jones of Cincinnati, Private Merrill Campbell of Fort Leavenworth, Kas., and Samson Powell of Cleveland.

Corporal Bill Jachman of Camp Polk, La., a native of Appleton, Wis., stamped himself as the tourney's outstanding competitor with a hard-earned win over Richard Letts of Wilberforce, O., in the heavyweight division.

How other Ohio entrants fared: Quarter-finals—112 pounds—William Marshall, Columbus, defeated Joe Herbert, Lowell; Leroy Jackson, Cleveland, defeated Nick Sanders, St. Louis.

126 pounds—Sam Derrigo, Cleveland, defeated Pete Cilinski, Washington; James Mario, Albany, defeated James Yee, Cincinnati.

135 pounds—Charles O'Kelly, St. Louis, defeated Harold Jardine, Salt Lake City; Willard Buckless, Saugus, defeated Tom Bell, Wilberforce.

160 pounds—Samson Powell, Cleveland, defeated Alex Gibbons, Albany; Walter Jones, Cincinnati, defeated Levell Perkins, New Orleans.

Heavyweight — Paul Konar, Pittsburgh, knocked out William Urbancic, Cleveland, second round.

BUY YOUR LOT NOW — BUILD ON IT WHEN WAR RESTRICTIONS ARE LIFTED

Very fine lot fronting 70 feet on paved street in excellent North Side neighborhood. This lot has attractive shade and requires no leveling or filling. It is situated in a neighborhood of new homes where street and sewer assessments are all paid and city water lines are installed. The present owner purchased this lot a few months ago with the intention of building a home on it, but since his work has taken him to another city he is now placing the ground back on the market.

It costs no more to build your home in a good location than in a poor one, and the small amount additional which you spend for your lot will add greatly to the re-sale value of the finished dwelling. See this splendid building site at our price of $1,250 before buying elsewhere.

Liquor Flows When Truck Is Wrecked

It was a great party while it lasted, or possibly the parties were held later.

The liquor flowed freely when a huge truck transport, loaded with 600 cases, overturned in a ditch on Route 224, a half mile east of Deerfield, yesterday morning.

Passersby and others who flocked to the scene "confiscated" brands of their liking. They hated to see the stuff go to waste.

The free-for-all was stopped, however, with the arrival at the scene of State Highway Patrolmen C. W. Cole and Bernard Hopkins of the Salem sub-station, who helped the bewildered driver, George Coustos, 25, of Boston, Mass., salvage his cargo.

The salvage totaled 480 cases out of the original consignment of 600. Bottles from the other cases were either broken or picked up by thirsty onlookers.

The cases were scattered when one side of the truck was ripped loose after hitting the ditch.

Coustos, the truck driver, told the state patrolmen that he took to the ditch to avoid a head-on collision with another car which failed to stop after he had crashed.

He escaped with body bruises. The truck, owned by the Merchants Freight Lines of Chicago, was transporting the load from Kentucky to Washington, D. C.

ACCUSES NAVY IN PLANE SLOWDOWN

Union Raps "Brass Hats," Submits Owns Formula to Spur Production

(By Associated Press) COLUMBUS, April 15.—CIO-United Automobile Workers officials accused "navy brass hats" of slowing production at the Curtiss-Wright plant today and promised a formula for increasing output.

The union leaders charged Sen. Byrd (D-Va.), the Curtiss-Wright engagement and the navy department with "collaboration in a vicious attack on labor" and said they would turn over to federal authorities information on how to make a speedup effective.

Paul Milley, regional UAW director, sent telegrams to President Roosevelt, Donald Nelson, chairman of the war production board, and Secretary of the Navy Knox asking an investigation of plant conditions.

Nicholas Dragon, assistant chief of aviation for the UAW in Curtiss-Wright plants, said "navy brass hats have made so many changes in the two planes that were being built that it was impossible for the corporation to meet its schedule." He contended workers had so little to do that men on one shift took down jigs set up by employees on the other shift.

The telegrams followed assertions in Washington by Byrd that the UAW was the cause of a slowdown here. Both Dragon and Milley described Byrd's statement, based on the senator said—on information from the navy department, as a "vicious lie."

Milley requested Nelson to meet with representatives of the UAW "who will place in your hands information that will increase production in this plant."

Curtiss-Wright executives declined comment on the navy report.

Byrd also quoted the navy as describing the "status" at the war-busy Shermar Products Co., Mt. Vernon, O., thus: "As a result of 90 per cent slowdown beginning April 6, company has had to close plant. Issue, wage increases." Shermar resumed operations last week after a two-day wage dispute shutdown. The company and unionists agreed to arbitration.

PASTOR TO REVIEW ROGERS BIOGRAPHY

The Biography of Will Rogers, written by Mrs. Rogers, will be reviewed at the Methodist church next Monday evening by Dr. Eugene Beach of Youngstown.

Dr. Beach who has become quite popular in recent years as a reviewer of books, is pastor of the First Christian church of Youngstown. He has specialized in reviewing biographical works. He will be remembered by many in Salem for his reviewing of "The Life of Benjamin Franklin." He appeared before several local groups.

Dr. Beach is being presented for the review of the Biography of Will Rogers by group No. 1 of the Women's Society of Christian Service. Mrs. G. W. McKee is chairman of the group. The review will begin at 8:15. The program will open with a 15-minute organ recital by Homer Taylor, organist of the Methodist church.

Keep Them Rolling

COLUMBUS, April 15.—The Ohio Automobile Dealers association, through offices in five Ohio cities, today began enlisting automobile mechanics and other garage personnel for an overseas battalion to repair and maintain army automotive and combat equipment.

Walt Hamer, executive secretary, said the association was acting at the request of the U. S. army ordnance department. Men who enlist will receive a six weeks training course before getting assignments. Twelve hundred men are sought from Ohio.

Enlistments are being taken in Akron, Cincinnati, Cleveland, Toledo and Columbus.

POTTERY WORKER SUCCUMBS IN JAIL

Anton "Tony" Simballa, 64, of 305 S. Broadway, died in the city jail shortly before 1 a. m. today, presumably as the result of a heart ailment.

Police records show that Simballa, a pottery worker, was arrested at 10:30 on a charge of intoxication. The officers asked him afterwards if he was sick and the man is reported to have replied no. Chief R. N. Stoffer reported. Later, however, police attempted to get the man's physician and at 12:50 a. m. succeeded in getting another doctor. When he arrived 10 minutes later Simballa was dead.

Mr. Simballa had worked for the Bryan Granite Co. here as well as a monumental works at Titusville, Pa. Lately, he had been employed as a caster for the Salem China Co.

He was a former resident of East Liverpool where he worked as a potter. He was a member of the National Brotherhood of Operative Potters and the Eagles club.

Surviving are two sons, Edward, stationed at Pearl Harbor, Hawaii, and Albert of Columbus; one daughter, Mrs. Martha Carey of Columbus, and three brothers and five sisters, all living in Germany with the exception of Mrs. Theresa Yager of East Liverpool.

The body was removed to the Dawson parlors in East Liverpool.

NEED LESS RUBBER FOR NEW FORD TIRE

DETROIT, April 15.—The Ford Motor company, it was learned today, has developed an automobile tire using only a fraction of the amount of rubber needed for the conventional tire.

Ford engineers reportedly have developed a process for treating the fabric and using not more than one-sixteenth the amount of rubber heretofore used in tire manufacturing.

Company officials are withholding formal announcement of the new development pending further tests, although trials under operating conditions are said to have shown the tire to be capable of withstanding great wear.

PAYING JAPS MORE?

Senator Hears Interned Orientals Getting More Than Soldiers

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Senator Gillette (D-Ia) said today he might ask the senate to investigate reports that interned Japanese nationals in this country "are being paid at a higher rate than our soldiers and others in the armed forces."

"I have a number of reports that, if true, would give ample reason for adopting more strict regulations for these interned aliens," the Iowa senator said.

Gillette said he had one report interned Japs "received more than $50 monthly compared with $21 monthly going to selectees."

ST. LOUIS—John R. Carrow, St. Louis World War I veteran, offered to donate his $30 a month pension check to the government shortly after the Japanese attacked Pearl Harbor, but received instead advice to invest his money in defense bonds.

EIGHT-BALL USED TO INCREASE OUTPUT

AKRON, April 15.—The big question in Akron today was "what does that eight-ball mean?" The town was plastered with posters, cards, banners and newspaper advertisements carrying the symbol.

The answer to the mystery will be disclosed officially tonight to curious Akronites, but for the benefit of the rest of the world the Goodyear Aircraft Co. announced today the big job of showmanship was its way of starting a joint management-labor plan to boost production in its plants—in cooperation with the War Production Board.

WFB Chief Donald M. Nelson has called for a warplane every eight minutes to meet the goal of 60,000 planes this year, and Goodyear aircraft hit upon the eight-ball "as the symbol of the problem that faces us."

Tomorrow the eight-ball billboards around town will be changed to show the three Axis leaders peeping from behind the pocket billiards sphere.

"SOCIAL JUSTICE" BANNED FROM MAILS

WASHINGTON, April 15.—Accused of violating the espionage act by making a "substantial contribution to a systematic and unscrupulous attack upon the war effort," the national weekly, Social Justice, today was barred from the mails.

Postmaster General Frank C. Walker late yesterday ordered the Royal Oak, Mich., postmaster to withhold the publication from the mails until officials at Washington determine its mailability, a procedure which officials said barred the tabloid from the mails immediately, and set a hearing for April 29 on whether the paper's mailing privileges should be revoked.

The Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, who helped found the weekly in 1936 but who said he no longer was its editor, owner or publisher, challenged Attorney General Francis Biddle to "summon me to Washington" to defend it.

Biddle declared in a letter to Walker that the weekly had mirrored "the enemy propaganda war being waged against this country."

Enlistment Delayed

SISTERSVILLE, W. Va., April 15.—The trip of three young men to enlist in the navy was interrupted when a Baltimore and Ohio train hit their automobile. Taken to a Martinsville hospital with serious injuries, they are James Thompson and William Timblin of Steubenville, O., and Oscar Buchanan of Ben's Run, W. Va.

GEN. JOHNSON, 55, DIES IN CAPITAL

Hard-Driving "Ironpants" of World War and NRA Succumbs After Pneumonia Attack

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, April 15.—General Hugh S. Johnson—the hard-driving, angry-tongued "ironpants" of the World War, and the recovery period NRA, and more recently a caustic newspaper columnist—died of pneumonia today, 12 hours after writing a last column against his doctor's orders for rest.

Death came to the 59-year-old former soldier at 4:45 a. m. in a Washington hotel. He had been weakened by several months of ill health.

Although he rose from captain to a brigadier general with a distinguished service medal in the World War, Johnson died a technically private. President Roosevelt on last April 30 refused his reappointment as an army reserve officer.

General Johnson came to national fame in 1933, when he stormed across the country organizing the NRA—the recovery period system of codes of practice for business and industry to keep prices and wages from being deflated.
